About us

We are a traveling family. We met in 2007 and discovered that travels are among our biggest common passions. And so we started our journey through life together. We got married in 2011 and in 2013 Helena was born – our lovely daughter became a traveler such as us. But it couldn't be any different, because in her mum's belly she visited Iceland and Israel and she had her first serious trip – two weeks in the Balkans – when she was only 12 weeks old.

About blog

Why Weekend Travelers? Because most of our trips doesn't take much longer than 5 days, including weekend. This model, however, doesn't concern other continents. Our biggest strength is that we don't write classic reviews but rather concentrate in useful tips and tricks that our readers need. Thanks to that most of our articles are very high ranked in Google Search. We are on first place in search on various subjects such as Iceland, Romania, Stanbul, Rome or Milan. Our blog is often visited by young parents as it's our goal to show them, that there's nothing wrong in traveling with a small child. Contrary, it can be great fun.
